THE NEW ORTHODOXY

By EDWARD SCRIBNER AMES

Associate Professor of Philosophy
The University of Chicago

The war marks the beginning of a new epoch in Christianity. Religion is gaining in reality and sanity and also in vision and incentive. The old orthodoxy sought correctness of opinion through tradition and authority. The new orthodoxy rests upon deeper grounds. Its foundations are in the nature of man; not in his superstition or his credulity but in his heroism, his kindness, and his imagination. The concerns of religion in our day are bound up with science and art and social idealism. This book is a popular, constructive interpretation of man's religious life in the light of the learning of scholars and in the presence of a new generation of spiritual heroes.

A Manual for Writers

By JOHN M. MANLY

Head of the Department of English of the University of Chicago and JOHN A. POWELL

A book designed to aid authors and all others who are concerned with the writing of English. It treats in a clear and convenient way the matters of grammar, spelling, and general form about which writers need to be informed, and gives full directions on the preparation of "copy" for the printer and the correcting of proof. The chapter on letter-writing is unique and gives just the help that is constantly wanted and that is not found in other manuals.

Now Ready

A Harmony of the Synoptic Gospels in Greek

By ERNEST D. BURTON and EDGAR J. GOODSPEED

$3.00, postpaid $3.15

¶ The problem of determining the relations of our first three gospels to one another, and ascertaining their sources, though studied for over a century, is one that is still but partially solved. Yet on its solution depends the decision of many important questions concerning early Christian thought and especially the teaching of Jesus. The purpose of this volume is to facilitate that careful comparison of the several gospels, sentence by sentence, even word by word, which is the first condition of success in the study of the mutual relation of the gospels, and an indispensable basis for advanced study of their contents.
